Please find below a special Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra (BSO) programme to allow bookings to be made for the forthcoming concert season.

We are being asked by the BSO to do things differently for two reasons:

1. The Northcott is in receivership and not acting as the ticket agent for BSO
2. The Great Hall is not available for this coming season and thus they are using Exeter Cathedral which has only two thirds of the capacity of the Great Hall.

BSO will only accept firm bookings, i.e. payment with order. This is not the normal way we do business but if we want to go to the concerts we have no choice. We are therefore sending this special order form out – for the entire season. If we get enough people for a concert we will order (and pay for) each concert and book the corresponding coach.

To beat the rush when tickets go on sale to the public we have had to impose a deadline of July 7. So please respond by return...usual rules apply. One cheque and booking slip per concert please. We will be banking cheques for each concert if there are sufficient numbers to make the event viable - there can be no refunds after that takes place I'm afraid.

Please note that the BSO are not doing a Viennese concert in Exeter in the New year but they are performing Handel's Messiah just before Xmas!

All performances are priced at £30 for a middle nave seat at Exeter Cathedral and a seat on the 21 seat coach.....the club deadline for ALL concerts is 7 July!

Please note that this is your only chance for this BSO concert season!
